A Last Look at Summer

It won't be long now until the trees shed their leaves and other foliage dies, and the barren look of winter comes on. This scene, a country lane in Upson County, reminds us of the warm, sunny days of summer that will give way to rain, cold...and Christmas. But next spring, nature will begin its beautifying process again, and man will marvel at the simple beauty of a country lane.

Man Dies of Gunshot Wounds

Danny Hall, 48, of 1905 O'Leary St., was fatally wounded Wednesday night in the yard of Tindall Heights Homes.

Otto Collins, of 704 Tindall Heights, told police that he found Hall shot in the head about midnight. Hall died about an hour later at the Medical Center.

A 19-year-old man has been taken into custody. Witnesses told police that he shot Hall with a 22-caliber rifle and then hit his victim with the gun.

Other crimes reported to the Macon Police Wednesday and early this morning include:

SPRING STREET. A 20-year-old Macon woman was reportedly raped after she was abducted from the parking lot of the Greyhound Bus Station Wednesday night.

Her husband told police that he left her outside while he checked on arrival times at the station. He said he saw her being forced into a car by a black man. She said she was taken to a house and raped and then dropped off on Elm Street.

Farmers Plan Washington Trip

A group of Georgia farmers plan a trip to Washington Oct. 1 to make certain the state's congressional delegation "knows what's going on in the state."

Tift College Plans Friday Convocation

FOURTH — Dr. Jean Marie English, well-known speaker and dramatist, will speak at the Fall Convocation of Tift College at 11 a.m. Friday in Roberts Memorial Chapel. The public is invited.

Dr. English, founder and chairman of the Theatre Program at Tallahassee Community College in Tallahassee, Fla., is a native of Young Harris. She received the bachelor of arts degree from Tift College in 1959.

She did graduate work at Furman University in Greenville, S.C., and the University of Georgia in 1960 and earned a doctorate in drama and theatre from Florida State University in 1969.

From 1965-68 Dr. English was director of Theatre and instructor of Speech and English at Young Harris College. She taught English, speech and journalism at Western Carolina University in Cullowhee, N.C., in 1966-67 and taught at Florida State University.

Married to businessman John C. English, Dr. English lives in Tallahassee, Fla.

on the farm."

H. Merritt Reynolds, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau, said the trip by more than 100 farmers would mark the first time farmers representing all 12 major commodities in the state would make such a journey en masse.

"Prices have gone up dramatically on the items a farmer must buy to produce the food and they for this nation."

Reynolds said the group would deliver a detailed report on each of the 12 commodities. He said the report details the cost-price relationship of each commodity and shows, in black and white, the position the farmer is in.

Steve Branne, director of the Agriculture Economics Department of the University of Georgia, compiled data for the report based on figures submitted by the farmers.

Commodities covered include cotton, eggs, peanuts, tobacco, dairy, corn, beef, cattle, swine, hogs, sheep, poultry, broilers and turkeys.

Reynolds said farmers have reached a point where they can no longer produce their commodities at a loss.

He said it is important that Congress "be vividly aware of just what faces this country in the near future unless agriculture receives some consideration and understanding."
